COUNTY BOARD TO SERVE PORT IONS

N. County Seeks Slices of Road Fund Pie

By RON BATES

THREE NORTH COUNTY cities— Daly City, Pacifica and South San Francisco, have applied for slices of a $500,000 pie to be divided by the county for roads during this coming fiscal year.

Ten of the county's 17 cities have applied for funds that will be made available in a city-county co-operative program to construct vitally needed inter-city highways, according to County Engineer Don Wilson.

Total requests come to approximately $480,000, just slightly under the $500,000 the county will contribute to the first year's program.

Daly City has informed county officials that it is interested in using funds from the program for the extension of Hickey Boulevard from Junipero Serra Boulevard to Skyline Boulevard through the Serramonte development.

Because financing of the project is indefinite, no specific amount was requested, Wilson said.

Daly City indicated it plans to use its share of state gas tax funds available on a matching basis for the Hickey extension.

The matching funds will be supplied by Suburban Realty, developers of Serramonte.

PACIFICA HAS asked the county to pay $30,000 for engineering studies for three road projects.

They are: Fassler Avenue extension from the Coast Freeway to the Skyline Parkway; Skyline Parkway extension from Sharp Park Road to Linda Mar Boulevard extension, and Linda Mar Boulevard extension from Rosita Road to the future Skyline Parkway.

Each study will cost approximately $10,000, Wilson said.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO has applied for half of the cost of a $15,000 engineering study to determine the proper route for the Chestnut Avenue Expressway from El Camino Real to Hillside Boulevard.

The South San Francisco City Council also is considering an application for engineering studies of an interchange in the northern part of the city to route traffic from the Cow Palace, Candlestick Park and the Crocker Industrial Park onto the Bayshore Freeway.

According to City Manager Eugene Aiello traffic from those areas is traveling along Airport Boulevard through South San Francisco to get on the freeway's southbound lanes.

Aiello said the city would also like to facilitate traffic from industrial areas to the east of Bayshore Freeway.

THE PROBLEM of setting up a list of priorities on the road projects may be decided when the Council of City Managers holds its meeting August 14 at the Hillsdale Inn in San Mateo.

The San Mateo County Council of Mayors is supporting a plan to appoint a committee of city managers to prepare a priority list.

The Board of Supervisors will make the final decision on any such list but the recommendations of the city managers' group is expected to influence the Greater Highways Committee, the advisory group to the supervisors.

Other cities who have applied for funds are Atherton, Belmont, Burlingame, Menlo Park, Redwood City, San Bruno and San Mateo.

QUIET SCHOOL HEARINGS

Public Absent While Budgets Are Approved

JUHS Outlay to Top $5 Million

By LOUANNE HEATH

The Jefferson High School District's first $5-million budget was approved by trustees Monday night after a public hearing in which the public was conspicuously absent.

Only members of the press and an insurance firm representative were present when Asst. Dist. Supt. Fred O. Goodell reviewed the budget and explained how the district would finance $5,074,525 in expenditures for 1964-65.

Las year's expenditures totaled $4,040,334.

The tax rate for the new fiscal year will be $2.57 per $100 of assessed valuation—down 10 cents from last year's rate.

Trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District unanimously approved the district's 1964-65 budget Monday night after a public hearing at which no one appeared to speak.

The budget provides for expenditures of $4,794,889, an increase of $341,186 over last year.

The tax rate was set at $2.71 per $100 of assessed valuation. The rate is about two cents less than last year. Lower costs of the district's health plan and of educating mentally retarded students accounts for the decrease.

The hearing and a meeting that followed was expedited by Chairman O. Wayne Douglas out of consideration for Trustee Thomas F. Noonan who had left a sick bed to attend the session.

The only change in the budget from a tentative fiscal plan approved previously concerned money the district owes to the state as a result of a building change order.

District Supt. Richard L. Foster said the amount has not been determined as yet and the board will retain the funds in a capital outlay account to await final auditing.

The board discussed transportation for 16 students in the district who must attend special classes.

At the district's last meeting, Foster told the board it was necessary for some of these students to spend an hour and 20 minutes on the buses.

In order to avoid the long time, Foster recommended that the board sign an $8,750 contract with Servicar Company of San Mateo to transport the children to their classes.

He added that $2.80 would be charged per day by the company for any other students that may be transported.

He also said fees would be modified in accordance with any wage increase granted bus drivers in the South San Francisco Unified School District and the Sequoia School District.

The board voted to approve the contract subject to approval from the county district attorney.

Foster recommended that the board vote to increase liability insurance for the coming year from a present total of from $250,000 to $1 million, to $500,000 to $1.5 million. The policy is due for renewal on August 17.

He reported from an insur-

S.S.F. Plan Unit to Meet

A special meeting of the South San Francisco Planning Commission, originally set for last Monday, will be held at 8 tonight in South San Francisco City Hall.

The commission had been scheduled to discuss Meyer & Young's Stonegate Ridge planned community, proposed for Sign Hill.

The developers, however, are seeking a postponement until August 24, to develop supplemental information requested by the city's planning staff.

The Stonegate Ridge plan has been opposed by several residents of the area and the original hearing last week drew a crowd that packed the council chambers and spilled over into the corridors.

Board Sheds Development From District

The board of directors of the North San Mateo Sanitation District moved Monday to shed the Westborough area from the district's jurisdiction.

The directors ratified an agreement formally excluding the area, which is expected to be annexed by South San Francisco next week. They agreed, however, to provide services to Westborough residents at a nomal yearly fee.

All the facilities now in the Westborough area will be turned over to the Westborough Water District.

Sewage from the area has been pumped to the Daly City district's treatment plant on Lake Merced Boulevard.

The agreement must also be ratified by the Westborough Water District.

In other business, the directors granted the district's employes a 3 per cent salary increase to correspond with an increase given to employes of Daly City last week.

The directors have about agreed upon an annexation plan with Serramonte developers. A final draft is expected at the next board meeting August 17.

An expenditure of $40,000 was authorized for additional anchorage of the district's ocean outfall line at Thornton Beach.

TWO OFFICERS RESIGN

D. C. Police Drop 5 Below Strength

Daly City's already-under-strength police department lost two officers Monday with the resignation of Patrolmen Robert Gremminger and Jay Makin.

Both resigned because of a requirement that they live in Daly City, according to Police Chief Roland Petrocchi.

Their resignations left the department five men short of authorized strength.

Makin is living in San Mateo and has joined the San Mateo Police Department. Gremminger moved to Mountain View where he said he could buy a home at a lower price than he could in Daly City.

Salary differences between Daly City's police force and those of Mountain View and San Mateo are minimal, Petrocchi said.

The chief had informed the city council in budget sessions that he had been unable to fill two new positions authorized by the council last year.

Since the authorization, five examinations for patrolmen have been held.

During this period, Sgt. Jerry Galindo was placed on the disability list because of injuries he received in an accident.

Petrocchi recently recommended that the city raise its minimum educational requirements for incoming policemen. He said this would not have a detrimental effect on police recruitment.

He said this week he had based his recommendation on a report compiled by the San Jose Police Department on recruitment problems.

With a high school requirement, San Jose had about 300 applicants but those who could qualify numbered only about 35 or 12 per cent.

When the police department raised its requirements to include two years of college, the number of applicants dropped below 300 but those who qualified jumped 30 per cent, the chief said.

Petrocchi said the city was raising its educational require-

At least this was the feeling of Daly City planning commissioners last week in holding over an application from Ralph Smith of San Francisco to build a series of four and eight unit apartment houses in the vicinity of Acacia and Schwerin Streets.

The commissioners felt that single family homes between the proposed apartments and commercial property a block away on Geneva Avenue would

JUHS Will Abstain on Assets Vote

At least one vote will be changed on a myriad of organizational proposals after a public hearing on unification of the Laguna Salada Elementary School District and the southern half of the Jefferson High School District at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Oceana High School.

The high school district will abstain instead of voting "no" on splitting up its assets between two unified districts proposed for the North County.

"I don't want to take part in carving up the turkey," high school district Vice Chairman James Cooper said Monday. "This is purely an elementary district problem."

Tomorrow's meeting is the first of two scheduled public

DRAINAGE BAN SET

S.S.F. Council Approves Hickey Blvd. Extension

South San Francisco city councilmen Monday night reluctantly decided to play the hand that was dealt them on the proposed extension of Hickey Boulevard, but held a legal "ace in the hole" in case solutions to drainage problems in the area could not be worked out with players sitting next to them.

The council, in a lively session, passed a resolution giving the county the right it needs to run the expressway through the West Winston Manor subdivision.

But it also passed a resolution putting the county and Daly City on notice that it would not permit any hookups from Daly City's Serramonte development to South San Francisco's drainage system.

City Attorney John Noonan explained that the extension of Hickey had been approved years ago by the council and on the basis of that approval, the county, the developer and the cities of Pacifica and Daly City had committed funds to the Hickey Boulevard extension from Junipero Serra to Skyline Boulevard.

"Not to go through with it now would put the council in a position of acting in bad faith," he said. "We will be breaking our word."

The resolution against any drainage hookup, however, would give the city time to work out a solution to any problems in the area in a "co-operative climate," and yet not hold up the county or state timetable for the Hickey project, he explained.

The state will contribute funds for an interchange at Hickey and the future Junipero Serra Freeway if the extension is being constructed by the time the state is ready to build the freeway.

Noonan said the city had re-

Undersheriff May Get Top Security Job

Undersheriff Wesley A. Pomeroy of San Mateo County said Monday he may get the position of chief of the special campaign security force for Senator Barry Goldwater.

Pomeroy attracted widespread attention for his work in planning and carrying out the policing of the Republican Convention in conjunction with Daly City police and apparently caught Goldwater's eye in the process.

The undersheriff said he got a telephone call Saturday from Gary Kidwell, a Goldwater aide, asking for a meeting in Washington, D. C., to discuss the job. This was followed by a confirming telegram yesterday.

Pomeroy said he will fly to Washington today and meet with Goldwater and his staff tomorrow. The trip will be at the candidate's expense, Pomeroy said.

ments on a "test basis" only. If it doesn't work, the requirement can be dropped, he explained, "and we'll try something else."

The chief declared the city certainly could not lower requirements in order to get recruits.

He pointed out that all other departments in the city, which formerly had eighth grade requirements, now demand high school diplomas.

"If a high school education is required of a common laborer," he said, "certainly the requirements for a police officer must be higher."

Petrocchi said that today a police officer must be capable of making intelligent "on the spot" decisions because his actions reflect on the department as a whole.

The city council has authorized eight more officers to be hired during the coming fiscal year, bringing to 13 the number of new men the police department will have to train.

"It has been estimated that it takes $15,000 to train a policeman," Petrocchi said. "At the rate Daly City has been losing men, it represents a loss of about $60,000 a year."

The chief added that Daly City will have to study a relaxing of the residence requirement.

He said that possibly Makin and Gremminger would have stayed if they had not had to live in Daly City.

"I don't care where my officers live," he said, "as long as they get to work on time."

Salaries are another consideration, he emphasied. San Francisco's salary for starting patrolmen will go up to $700 soon and some of Daly City's policemen have taken the San Francisco test, he said.

Daly City's council gave its police force an over-all five per cent pay increase last week.

The starting wage for a patrolman is now $578 a month.

ance company survey that the average claim made upon elementary schools falls somewhere between $250,000 and $500,000.

Trustee George G. Perry suggested the board postpone action until the district attorney supplies data showing jury decisions in elementary school suits in the Bay Area and California at large.

"We are obligated to carry only a reasonable amount of insurance," he pointed out.

Douglas added that the board also must remember its obligation to the taxpayer.

Board members regretfully accepted the resignations of teachers Edward L. Rubenich and Leonard Sarken.

Rubenich has left Garden Village School to teach in the Mt. Diablo Unified School District. Sarken has left Christopher Columbus School to become vice principal in the San Carlos School District.

Foster reminded the board of the August 13 public hearing at Jefferson High School to consider unification of the Jefferson, Brisbane and Bayshore Elementary School Districts.

Unification within the Laguna Salada District will be considered tomorrow night.

Douglas announced that he was in favor of a five-man board to be elected at large for a unified school district. He previously had supported a proposal for a seven-man board.

In making his announcement, he asked fellow trustees to consider the merits of the five-man board proposal.

A Siege of Broken Toes

Broken toes seem to be contagious around City Hall in Daly City lately.

First Betty Anderson, secretary to City Engineer William Chapman, slipped at home Wednesday and fractured the foremost part of her foot, incapacitating her for a few days.

Then Assistant City Electrical Inspector Byron Ensinger dropped a heavy piece of equipment on his big toe while working on a boat over the weekend.

Mrs. Anderson was hobbling around the office in a cast Monday morning. Ensinger is expected to miss a few more days.

hearings on a county school reorganization committee plan to create two unified school districts out of the present high school district.

The second public hearing will be held next week at Jefferson High School on a plan to unify the elementary districts of Jefferson, Brisbane and Bayshore with the northern half of the high school district.

A final vote is expected to be taken following the public hearings in order to speed action on unification for the entire North County area.

The committee is racing against time in order to qualify for a bonus grant of approximately $250,000 under the Unruh Unification Act, passed by the legislature earlier this year.

Among other unification facets to be decided are: division of the high school district's assets, assumption of the bonded indebtedness of the individual districts by the unified district, determination of the tax rate and the composition of the new board's board of trustees.

The committee must decide whether the assets should be divided on an assessed valuation basis or on an average daily attendance basis.

According to a committee staff report, if the division is made according to assessed valuation, Laguna Salada would receive 23.3 per cent of the high school's assets.

If they were distributed according to average daily attendance, the Pacifica district would get 40.48 per cent.

state school building fund, a variable figure from year to year, accounts for the decrease.

In other business, Goodell said that a survey of accidents and procedures for reporting campus mishaps at the district's four schools will be undertaken this fall to determine the reason for wide discrepancies in accident rates at the schools.

In his annual report to the district, insurance representative Peter Markovitch reported that while Westmoor High School has more than twice as many students as Terra Nova, it has less than half as many reported accidents.

According to Markovitch, Westmoor reported 73 accidents on campus during the past academic year while Terra Nova had 274. Jefferson High School officials reported 65 incidents and Oceana 219.

Goodell indicated he would investigate to determine why the ratio for the two newer schools is so much greater than for Jefferson and Westmoor.

In other matters, the board heard a letter read from several parents of members of the Jefferson High School band who announced their intention to form a parents' group that will work to promote band morale by helping obtain more recognition for the band, better press coverage and the establishment of a band trophy case.

Detour Use Is Planned

Motorists passing the intersection of Alemany and Junipero Serra Boulevards may be wondering about that new road that veers off to the right as they come up the hill from the coast highway.

The road is part of a series of detours drivers will have to put up with during the construction of a massive interchange at the intersection.

The road, however, won't come into use until October, according to City Engineer William Chapman, when signal lights are installed and connecting streets are finished.

TOOLS STOLEN

S.S.F. Council Okays Hickey

ceived a letter from Daly City assuring South San Francisco that it would co-operate in any way it could to help South San Francisco work out a solution to the drainage problem.

Another letter from E. V. Schulhauser, vice president and principal engineer of the Serramonte developers, informed the council that the development would divert most of any drainage northward into Colma Creek.

"The remaining area (drainage) consisting of 34 acres, even fully developed and with a higher co-efficient of runoff, will produce no greater volume than the present flow . . . ," Schulhauser wrote.

The approval for Hickey came over the strenuous objections of the residents of the West Winston Manor Homeowners' Association, whose insistence for "more information" had been the primary reason for a previous delay in the council's decision.

Monday night's meeting was an abbreviated repeat performance of last Tuesday's marathon four-hour meeting on the Hickey controversy.

One resident put Board of Supervisors Chairman James Fitzgerald, who was sitting in on the meeting, on the spot when he claimed Fitzgerald had said that if the Hickey plan was not passed, Daly City and Pacifica would vote against a $600,000 allotment to South San Francisco for construction of a Chestnut Avenue extension.

Fitzgerald said the county had no commitment on Chestnut Avenue and denied making any such statement.

"What I did say was that I was anxious to have Hickey approved so that we could get to work on Chestnut," he said.

"I said that if we delayed too much on Hickey, the money for Chestnut Avenue would be lost to the southern part of the county."

Nick Elchinoff, an attorney retained by the homeowners' association to fight the Hickey extension, reiterated reasons for the association's objections.

He pointed out that Hickey could not become a complete cross-county lateral as planned because it could not go through cemetery property north of El Camino High School and the road would "dead end" at Old Mission Road instead of continuing to Hillside Boulevard.

Elchinoff said the road would have to go through the Sunshine Gardens subdivision. He asked the council about its position if this were the case.

All except Councilman Andrew Rocca said they would oppose the move. Rocca said:

"I'll cross that bridge when we come to it. I'll make my decision after hearing from the engineers."

He also noted that drainage problems in the area have not been studied as thoroughly as they should be.

John Siacotos, president of the association, told the council:

"This is not the last place we can take our case to," he said. "We'll use every avenue we can to halt this project."

agreed that he can take a leave of absence if he gets the job.

Pomeroy played a big role in the planning and operation of the special police force that guarded the recent convention at the Cow Palace.

Prior to the convention, police held many meetings with civil rights leaders and worked out in advance a set of "ground rules" that was supposed to prevent violence.

It worked out that way, except for a few relatively minor incidents.

The special police force, which included officers from nearly every San Mateo County police department, was briefed in advance about how the demonstrators were to be handled.

As a result, there was little trouble during the convention and the police force did not feel it was necessary to make an arrest.

The policing technique has received nationwide attention.

Pomeroy, 44, of Menlo Park, was a patrolman with the California Highway Patrol for nearly 10 years before coming to the sheriff's office 13 years ago.

He has been undersheriff for more than four years.

He is an attorney, having completed law school and passed the bar while serving in the sheriff's office.

He is a teacher in police science at Foothill College and is a trustee of the Ravenswood City School District.

The undersheriff and his wife, Marjorie, have four daughters.

Board Sheds Development

The study will be performed by Brown and Caldwell Engineers at a cost of approximately $33,000.

The Pacifica Democrats will hold a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duffy Sullivan, 1127 Crespi Drive.

The political club will discuss several vital issues and activity in the November elections.

Boy, 6, Shot Accidentally

A six-year-old Daly City youngster was accidentally shot with a .22-caliber rifle Monday afternoon.

The boy, Jessie V. Cervantez of 248 Los Olivos Avenue, was in County General Hospital yesterday after being given emergency treatment for face and chest injuries at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco.

Daly City police said that the boy's brother, Anthony, 17, was playing with the rifle and had fired two shells he thought were blanks.

As he fired the third time, his brother ran in front of him. The incident occurred in the garage-basement of the Cervantez home.

Mother-in-Law Welcome, But Not Her Apartment

City Engineer William Chapman pointed out that if the single family lots were also zoned for apartments, they could result in mixed uses—such as single family homes, apartments, mother-in-law apartments and apartments over garages, which he said would be undesirable.

Commissioner McRobert Stewart said that considerable study was made prior to the zoning of the entire Bayshore area only a few months ago and he could see no reason to allow any rezoning in that part of the city.

"In any case," he said, "the applicant should present plans of his proposed development prior to any planning commission consideration."

In other business concerning the Bayshore area, the commission approved an application for a use permit by Midway Auto Sales of 2579 Geneva Avenue to enlarge the company's auto storage lot.

The commission attached a stipulation to the approval, however. It said that the firm must pave the lot, which then will be inspected by the city engineer.

In other action the commission:

Granted a use permit to Dante Giosso of San Francisco to build apartments in a commercial zone on the north side of School Street between Station Avenue and the railroad tracks, provided he installs a storm sewer main on the south side of School Street.

Fair Shifts Gears

Fiesta Enters Last Four Days

The San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta shifted into second gear today, boosted along by a complete face-lifting job accomplished last night by workmen who labored until dawn.

The work crews swept the fair grounds and replaced wilting flowers with fresh blooms. All buildings were hosed down.

Fair Manager William M. Wilson predicted that, given fair weather, at least 175,000 persons will have visited the fair before it closes Saturday night.

The 30th annual Fiesta is being staged on the county's fairgrounds, which can be reached via Twenty-fifth Avenue in San Mateo.

Special events in the fair's last four days include a new Fiesta Bowl revue, starring stage and television entertainers and featuring the French Sisters, Henry's Chimps and the Mason-Kahn Dancers.

Ray Hackett's Orchestra will play.

Parade and drill performances will feature the Belmont Hi-Steppers, the Fort Ord Army Band and the 12th Naval District Band.

One of the highlights of the fair will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow when restuarant owners bid for prize steers and lambs for their kitchens at the Junior Livestock Auction Sale.

The fiesta will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily until the grand finale Saturday night.

William Mendez, 48-year-old merchant seaman, was arraigned in Superior Court Friday on a charge that he tried to murder his 3-year-old son, Paul

At the request of defense attorney Thomas Paige, Judge J. A. Branson continued the case to 9 a.m. next Wednesday for plea.

Mendez has admitted to South San Francisco police that he pumped seven bullets into the boy's body because he did not want the child to be returned to his estranged wife.

Authorities say one of the bullets missed Paul's heart by only one-sixteenth of an inch. The child is recovering from his wounds.

Two Youths Injured in Car Crash

Two South San Francisco youths were badly hurt and two cars demolished in a collision on a residential street just before 2 a.m. last Wednesday.

Police say the injured were Anthony J. Leon, Jr., 19, 7 Carlsbad Hourt, and Keith Eugene Mitchell, 20, 709 West Orange Avenue. They were taken to Peninsula Hospital.

Leon reportedly suffered severe lacerations of his face and arms.

Mitchell suffered a fractured nose, lacerated face, and a fractured upper left arm.

Police say the accident apparently occurred when Mitchell's car approached the 700 block on West Orange, heading in an easterly direction and moving fast at about 1:50 a.m.

Neighbors say they heard the car approach, heard a crash, then the noise of scraping metal and smaller crashes.

Officers found the Mitchell car had hit a parked auto owned by Mrs. Barbara Jean Maloney, 724 West Orange, and had spun it completely around in the street.

Flipping over, the Mitchell car then skidded down the street on its top and smashed through a wooden fence.

Mitchell was found under the front of the vehicle.

Leon was found wandering around the street, bloody.

Each young man reportedly said the other was driving.

Westborough Election Set

Residents of Westborough will go to the polls Tuesday to determine whether or not the unincorporated area will become part of the city of South San Francisco.

Approximately 400 families are living in the development.

Voter Decision Is Urged For County Transit Plan

Any San Mateo County rapid transit plan must be submitted to the voters before it can become a reality, several speakers said Monday.

The occasion was the second of three sessions of the Rapid Transit Committee to determine whether there is a desire for a Transit Authority to hold a million dollar study of the need for such facilities.

Held in the Central Judicial District courthouse in San Mateo, the meeting was called by County Supervisor William Werder and presided over by Tom Casey, former local representative to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

A third such gathering is scheduled for August 17, at 3:30 p.m., in the Supervisors Chambers at the County Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

During yesterday's half-hour session, speakers representing the San Mateo County Development Association, the Governmental Research Council, San Mateo Chamber of Commerce, and San Mateo Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke in favor of creating a Transit Authority to study the needs and carry a proposal to the voters.

According to state legislation, Chairman Casey said, the Transit Authority would be permitted to raise $100,000 per year, for planning, by a one-cent property tax.

In addition, there are possible grants from federal or state sources to aid in the study.

If these are not sufficient, the committee reported, the County Supervisors have the authority to raise $1,000,000 per year by a one-half cent "in lieu" tax on all automobiles in the county.

at the POST

By LE PACINI

THIS COLUMN MARKS, more or less, the second anniversary of "At the Post," and during that time we've gathered and recorded more than 100,000 words on sports.

That's equivalent to a couple of fairly good sized novels and a remarkable achievement considering the fact that we've generally gotten by with no plot and little unity.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Pacini is being modest, we hasten to note parenthetically here. His columns are usually fraught with plots and all sorts of continuity.)

If there has been one universal (and, considering our personal readership, we employ the latter word very loosely) criticism of "At the Post," it has been that we favor baseball in the doling out our weekly 1,000 or so words.

Thus we set out the other day, to refute this accusation, and after several hours of careful content analysis of past "At the Post's," we discovered that the criticism was almost deserved.

Following is a percentage breakdown on space allotted to various sports over the past two years.

Baseball, 50; football, 19; miscellaneous (recreation, general personal observances, mixed columns where sports generally were discussed, etc.) 10.6; basketball, 6.2; boxing, 4.2; golf, 3; wrestling, 2; track, 1.5; ice hockey, 1.5; swimming, 1; ping-pong, .5; and horse racing, auto racing, kite flying and tennis, combined, .5.

Also mentioned, but not enough to register statistically, were soccer and judo while not included in the survey was last week's grass-sliding.

In defense of our apparent proclivity toward baseball, please be reminded that this column started in the middle of a baseball season, and that the above survey has been completed in the middle of another one.

We are, therefore, one baseball season up (this is our third) on basketball and football (we've enjoyed only two of those during our tenure), for instance.

And after that fact, coupled with the mathematical one that the baseball season is the longest—thereby offering more to write about—of all the sporting seasons, we hope you'll find that the figures are not as overwhelming as they first appear.

Admittedly, we've shortchanged track but on the other hand, we've written about—without any conscious aim—some 17 different sports—thereby shattering another criticism that we've at times heard.

And coming up soon, if our contacts pan out, are columns about badminton, sculling and maybe even dice throwing, one of the most ancient sports of them all.

IF ANYONE bet on our predicted Top Ten hitters at the beginning of the season, don't fret too much. We've picked it correctly on five of 'em as of this writing and a couple more seem to be coming up. With luck, we could finish with seven or eight right choices.

IT'S SURPRISING more Bay Area people don't root for Cincinnati. The Reds currently employ four Bay Area boys in their outfield: Tommy Harper of Oakland and San Francisco State College (he was a shortstop for the Gators), and Frank Robinson, Vada Pinson and Marty Keough, also all East Bay products.

Until they got rid of Joe Gaines, also an Oaklander, last year, the Reds had an ENTIRE East Bay outfield.

Count star pitchers Jim Maloney and Dick Ellsworth, both Fresnans, in the area survey, and the Reds could have reason to demand more of a gate cut from the Giants.

Baltimore, also, could gather quite a local following if it were in the National League.

At this moment, it employs Gaines and Peninsula resident Wally Bunker, a former Capuchino hurler, as well as Oakland lad Earl Robinson, an outfielder. It just recently sent San Franciscan Gino Cimoli, an outfielder, back to the minors and has just recalled another San Francisco boy, lefty pitcher Frank Bertaina, former Sacred Heart sensation.

A couple of years ago, the Orioles had three native San Franciscans on their poster: catchers Gus Triandos and Frank Zupo and first baseman Jim Gentile, all of whom we've done columns on.

In the meanwhile, the Giants have only two Californians on their entire roster (Del Crandall and Duke Snider), and THEY'RE from Southern California. And the Yankees, who at one time seemed to hire nobody but San Francisco Italians, don't even have one Californian on the club.

IF TITLES win marbles, the Giants should take them all in the National League this year.

Four of Our Boys are former home-run champs: Mays ('51 and '55), Cepeda ('61), McCovey ('63) and Snider ('56).

We also have two former batting kings in Mays ('54) and Kuenn (American League ('59); and two RBI champs in Cepeda ('61) and Snider ('55).

That's a total of nine titles.

Only Milwaukee in the National League and the Yankees in the American League can match that total. But in each case, the nine big offensive titles are shared between only two men—Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron (four homer titles, three RBI wins and two batting championships) for the Braves, and Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris (five homer titles, three in RBI's and one for batting) for the Yanks.

For sheer weight of numbers, the Giants top 'em all.

WE'LL NEVER get over Dark's recent resting of Orlando Cepeda. The rest was bad enough but sending him home to play his cha-cha-cha records so as to completely nullify even his pinch-hitting chances?

Even the injury-plagued Mickey Mantle doesn't get rested in the middle of a pennant race.

WE'LL ALSO continue to be stunned by the fact that about once a month Dark seems to concede a game (most recent, O'Dell versus Cubs—13-4.

He's Armed With a Raft Of Figures

By RON BATES

Proposition One, the State Parks and Recreational Bond Issue on the November ballot, has been endorsed by the California Congresses of P-TAs, the Seventeenth District P-TA of San Maeto and Al Rooney of Daly City wants every eligible voter to know about it.

Rooney, a retired person, who has taken the reins of the local George Washington P-TA, has been appointed temporary recreation chairman for the county P-TA council and his primary project between now and November is to reach as many voters as he can.

"With more than 73 million visitors last year, the California State Park System was bursting at the seams," Rooney said. "That figure represents nearly the combined populations of six states — California, New York, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas."

Rooney, an avid fisherman and hunter, is making himself available as a speaker to any organization that will take the time to hear him.

Armed with all kinds of facts and statistics and a 14-minute film written, produced, directed and supplied free by Walt Disney, Rooney claims he has an answer for every question any voter has on the $150-million bond issue.

"If I don't have the answer, I'll get it," he enthused.

He can be contacted at his home at 314 Templeton Avenue, Daly City, or by phoning JU 7-6140.

Roney said that under the bond proposal, San Mateo County would receive approximately $1,134,750 for development of parks and recreational facilities.

Portions of the funds would be distributed to those municipalities that qualify, he said.

The bond issue also includes a small amount for additional projects of the Wildlife Conservation Board to provide better fishing and hunting access to public lands and waters, he said.

"Anyone who ever has camped—or tried to camp—in one of our State Parks during the summer knows how popular this form of family recreation has become," he said.

"Now all of us are faced with the question of whether California's scenic and historic heritage is worth passing along to our children and grandchildren."

Internationals Lead in Daly City Lob Ball Play

Officials of the Daly City Department of Recreation expressed satisfaction this week with the progress of the department's Lob Ball League, now in its second year.

The league currently boasts a hot battle for the city championship. Players in previous years participated in fast pitch softball competition, also sponsored by the department.

The Daly City Internationals lead lob ball play with a 6-0 mark. They are the only team without a loss in the 14-team loop.

Tied for second place with 5-1 records are the Mission DeMolays, the Daly City Playboys and the Westlake Sweatsox.

Miller Has Early Lead

Johnny Miller of the Olympic Club, the national junior champion who patterns his play after Arnold Palmer, looked toward a successful defense of his O'Brien Junior Golf championship after he shot an opening round 65 Monday at San Mateo Municipal Golf course.

The 17-year-old San Francisco youth, defending champion in the boys' 16-17 division, was closely chased by Larry Anderson of Salinas, who shot a 66, and Tom Slater, Merced, who had a 67.

In the boys' 14-15 division, James Schiavenza of Alameda held a three-stroke lead with an even par 70. Tied for second with 73's were Don Howken, Peacock Gap; Bob Strock, Palo Alto; and Bob Fast of Crystal Springs.

SIXTH ANNUAL D.C. EVENT

PAL Bowling Meet to Open

Daly City's annual blue-ribbon bowling event, the Police Athletic League (PAL) Benefit Bowling Tournament, will begin play Saturday at Westlake Bowl.

The tournament will be staged in two divisions this year. Competition for non-league bowlers will run from Saturday until September 7. League bowlers will compete September 8 to October 4.

This year's tournament is the sixth to be staged. As in past years, proceeds will be used to support PAL programs.

A raft of prizes will be awarded winning bowlers — including special awards for high scratch games and high series.

Separate prizes will be awarded for men and women bowlers. In past years, a total of more than $25,000 in prizes was distributed.

Again this year, Daly City merchants will donate merchandise to the prize pool.

Each contestant will bowl three games to be considered in the awarding of prizes. In addition, he may bowl as many games as he wishes.

Entry fee for each set of three games is $3.25. Of this amount, $1.15 will be a donation to the PAL, $1.80 for the cost of bowling and 30 cents for scorekeeper and expenses.

The tournament is sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress and the Women's International Bowling Congress.

'Caretaker' Is Extended

Harold Pinter's comedy "The Caretaker," currently in its second Actor's Workshop revival at the Encore Theater, has been extended through August 29.

The production will be shown Friday and Saturday evenings through that date.

Lady Talks, Gunman Leaves

Ida O'Moore, who runs the South San Francisco Western Union office at 271 Maple Street, knows very little about guns but enough about people to talk her way out of a holdup.

Her opportunity came last week when a tall, thin, unkempt man walked into the telegraph office.

In one hand, he carried an ordinary paper bag.

In the other, he carried a gun, Miss O'Moore told police she had no idea what kind of a gun it was, but that the gunman asked for "all the money."

She told him there was only some small change on hand, that she didn't have keys to the safe, that no one else could open the safe would be arriving, and that it wasn't worth his while to take a chance on prison for such a small sum as she had in the petty cash drawer.

ROOS-ATKINS MEET

Fairs Win 2nd Title in a Row

The Daly City duo of George and Jim Fair played better than fair golf Sunday to become the first team in history to win the annual Roos-Atkins Father-Son Golf Tournament two years in a row.

The Fairs downed Don and Denny Garman of the Richmond Golf Club 7 and 6 at the Golden Gate Park course in 56 holes while playing a two-over-par game.

The Daly City father-son team jumped to an early lead on the first two holes and stayed there throughout the contest.

All but four of the Fairs' shots from the tee were on the green as they played consistent golf throughout the match.

The Garmans hung on to narrow the lead to two up on the thirteenth hole, but the Fairs birdied two of the next three holes to widen the gap to five strokes.

From then on it was "fair sailing" to the end with Dad Fair closing out the competion by sinking a 15-foot birdie putt on the twenty-ninth hole of the scheduled 36-hole match.

The Fairs added to their honors by defeating Stewart and Howard Whitman in a playoff for medalist honors in 54 holes.

Jim Fair is a golfer on the College of San Mateo team and saw action on two Westmoor High School championship teams. George Fair is a supervisor for building and grounds at Westmoor.

Ken Venturi, U.S. Open champion, presented the Fairs their trophy.

D.C. Keglers Take Title

The Floor Styles of Daly City bowling team may be the new five-man team champions of the California Bowling Association, but it won't be official for 15 days.

The team rolled 3,195 in the association's three-day tournament at the Westchester Bowl in Sacramento last weekend.

An error, however, in computing handicaps or reporting averages may enable Healiner Homes of Fresno, who totaled 3,174 to snare the title away.

Fifteen days are allowed for checking figures.

The Daly City team is composed of Jack Glass, Dave Egigian, John Riley, Rich Hottal and Frank Peterson. The team went into the tournament with a 290 handicap.

Hower Team Wins Coast Ski Crown

The Jiggs Hower Water Skiing team of Burlingame is the 1964 Pacific Coast champion.

The Hower skiers annexed the title at Clear Lake over the weekend, getting a first, second, third and fourth in competition which brough together all of the top skiers on the West Coast and in the North County.

Lavonne Bushey, pretty 17-year-old blonde from Belmont, grabbed the lion's share of the honors when she triumphed in the women's division of the Pacific Coast championships.

The petite Miss hit speeds in excess of 80 miles per hour in winning the championship. The victory gave her an undefeated record for the season.

Burlingame High School's John Hower took a fourth place in the men's division, with newcomer Sully Sullivan of Vallejo skiing to a second place in the verteran men's division behind the Hower Acqua-Craft.

Miss Bushey has qualified for a chance to ski with Rick Fowler, the world's fastest water skier, in an October sports spectacular in Southern California.

In the meantime, the Hower team will try to add another set of trophies to its already bulging bag when the group competes in the Northern California Water Ski championships at Clearlake Highlands Saturday and Sunday.

Stevens Keeps His Mat Title

A knee injury to Eduardo Carpentier killed his chances for winning the "world wrestling title" in an exhibition at the Cow Palace Saturday night.

Carpentier had won the first fall from Ray Stevens

LOUISVILLE, KY.—Visitors to Kentucky write lyrically of the farms with the rolling bluegrass pastures where thoroughbred horses graze peacefully and picturesquely. While these glowing descriptions are justly deserved, there are other phases of farming in Kentucky that merit attention and some of those glowing terms.

The dairy, cattle and the large tobacco farms are well organized, planned and highly productive industries in this state. Besides the main products, the farms also sustain the farmer and his family with home grown food. Raising meats, poultry, vegetables and fruits provide the homemaker with a more than ample supply of foods. Right now, "late gardens" are in and growing to provide fresh vegetables through late summer and early fall.

The homemakers' busy schedule includes canning and freezing foods, making jellies, jams and such, besides the usual day-to-day household chores. How they do it, I do not know, but they do and also find time to share recipes with bothersome food columnists. Here is a delightful example of this generous sharing.

BAKED FRYER WITH RICE DRESSING

½ cup (more or less) butter or margarine
1 cup celery, chopped
1 cup onion, chopped
1 can mushrooms, drained (save the liquid)
3 cups cooked rice
1 can cream of chicken soup
Salt and pepper to taste
Chopped parsley
1 or 2 frying chickens

Saute celery, onion and mushroom in butter. Then add cooked rice, liquid from mushrooms, cream of chicken soup, salt and pepper and parsley. Blend lightly. Place dressing in shallow greased baking dish. Now, season well and rub the chicken (which has been quartered or cut up) with butter. Place skin side up on the rice dressing.

Slide the baking dish into a large brown paper bag. Close it securely. Bake in 375 degree oven about one hour and 15 minutes. (Peek and check for doneness.) When it is tender and lightly browned, remove bag and slip dish under the broiler for a quick brown finish. Watch it carefully. Serve from pan (if it's at all presentable).

BAKED EGGPLANT

1 large eggplant, peeled and boiled in salt water until tender, drained and mashed
1 teaspoon dinced onion
1 teaspoon diced celery
1 teaspoon green pepper
1 cup tomatoes, without juice
1 egg slightly beaten
½ stick butter (2 ounces)
4 ounces mild cheddar cheese, broken into small pieces
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix mashed eggplant, onion, celery, green pepper, tomatoes, slightly beaten egg, one ounce butter and cheece. Pour in baking dish, sprinkle bread crumbs over top and dot with remaining butter. Bake 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

FINISH OFF a meal with this well loved favorite.

HEAVENLY HASH

3 bananas
1 small bottle maraschino cherries
1 small can crushed pineapple
12 marshmallows
½ pint whipping cream

Cut bananas and cherries into small pieces; add quartered marshmallows and crushed pineapple. Let stand in refrigerator one hour, then fold into the whipped cream and return to refrigerator until ready to serve.

Serve in sherbet or parfait glasses, and top each with a cherry.

Fair's Garden Club Day To Feature Hat Contest

A hat contest in two categories — most beautiful and most original—will be the feature of Garden Club day at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

The luncheon event will take place today in the Garden Restaurant on the Fair Grounds. The contest is open to all garden club members, and special emphasis will be placed on garden club work in the "most original" category where entrants will decorate hats depicting any phase of garden club work. Entrants in the "most beautiful" category will decorate their hats with fresh plant material.

Hats will be modeled by adult members of the garden club, and winners will receive individual trophies.

Garden club presidents have entry blanks for entering the contest; the forms may also be obtained at the Amateur office in the Twin Floral building.

Mrs. George A. Panaretos, district director and chairman of the amateur division, has announced that guests of honors will be officers of California Garden Clubs and of Bay Ocean District.

Mrs. Panaretos has also announced that special sweepstake trophies will be presented to winners in the flower arrangement division, cut flowers, and potted plants. The special trophy for the most outstanding garden will also be presented, according to Kai Freitag, co-ordinator of the amateur division.

The Fiesta opened last week and complete new staging in the amateur division has been designed by William Whipple, Fiesta show designer.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

WARM, LAZY days may slow down the pace of living for some people but others seem to burst forth with new energy and ingenious ideas when days grow longer and brighter.

Some people thrive in the fog, others in the sunshine. Notably in the last group are artists and gardeners so it stands to reason that Pacifica's Sherri Thomas, who is a talented artist and an avid gardener, should be happily involved in planning and executing the work on the Fuchsia and Art Fiesta.

Sherrri's reports on the progress being made on the Fiesta are like a barometer of her own personality —ambitiously unique and fairly bubbling with good humor and vigor. To date she has succeeded in arranging many of the details that will go into making this year's show a fresh and gay experience.

Each year, the Pacifica Branch of the American Fuchsia Society and the Pacifica Artists' Guild join forces to present a fine display of beauty that attracts flower lovers, art lovers, gardeners and the curious from all over the state. This year the show will be presented at the Sanchez Adobe on Linda Mar Boulevard August 22 and 23.

Like those joint efforts of past years, it will feature some of the finest canvasses done by the members of the artists' colony and the most handsome blooms from the gardens of the fuchsia enthusiasts. In addition, Mrs. Thomas has arranged to enlarge upon the theme this year and some of her innovations are bound to extend to the appeal of the fiesta to vastly greater numbers of people.

For example, parents of daughters 4 to 6 years of age will be interested to know that a tiny Fuchsia Quen will be crowned to reign over the Fiesta and she will be attended by Miss Pacifica, Theresa Foley. Author Anita Day Hubbard will place a tiara of fuchsia blossoms on her head.

According to Mrs. Thomas, applications blanks for the queen contest are available in the Pacific Plaza Furniture store in the Pacific Manor district. The little queen will reign for one year, Mrs. Thomas said, until a successor is selected during next year's show. In addition to the crown the Fuchsia queen will be awarded a loving cup as a memento of her exciting moment.

Art in action, a section which will feature artists working at their specialties, fuchsia lore tables and floral arrangements will also be included in the show along with folk dancing by the Fifty Plus Club and a Spanish dance group from San Francisco.

VACATIONS out of the Bay Area can be less than comfortable for localites used to the cooling fog, according to Mr. and Mrs. William Ross of Westlake.

The Ross family spent one week in the high Sierra and then traveled northward for a week at Lake Britton in Lassen County. But, when the therometer rose to 113 and then failed to drop below 100 for several days, Bill and Marg decided they had had all they could take so they packed their belongings and loaded the children into the car and sped homeward.

"We actually cheered when we saw that we were going to hit fog in San Francisco," Mrs. Ross said.

To make up for the children's disappointment at having to return home early, Mrs. Ross and Bill Jr., Larry, Diane and Debbie will spend two weeks at Forest Lake before school opens in September.

According to Mrs. Harris, the Gorhams enjoyed a visit to the Hunters Point Boys' Club where Harris is the director, and tours of Muir Woods and San Francisco's Chinatown.

The Gorhams, who are also planning visits with family in San Diego and Dallas, Texas, will spend the remainder of the year at the University of Michigan where Gorham plans to get his master's degree in communication arts before returning to Africa for a second four-year assignment.

Symphony Season Is Announced

Five premieres, three special events, and appearances of more than two dozen guest artists will highlight the 1964-65 season of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. Details of the season are included in the 1964-65 season prospectus which will be mailed this week.

The season, second with Josef Krips as conductor and musical director, will open December 2 in the War Memorial Opera House.

Of the new works, Bay Area Symphony No. 1 will be given its world premiere performances in concerts of January 6, 7 and 8. The American premiere of Detlev Anders' Symphonietta for Orchestra will take place February 3, 4 and 5 with the composer, a cellist in the orchestra, conducting. The Schubert Overture to "Der Hausliche Krieg" will be given its American premiere on the same programs.

Special events, innovations this season, will include a single Civic Auditorium performance of Handel's "Messiah," December 23; A Night in Old Vienna at the Civic Auditorium December 31, a sparkling New Year's Eve program of Johann Strauss favorites; and a Beethoven festival after the regular season ends.

These special events and 19 weeks of regular Wednesday evening, Thursday afternoon, Friday evening subscription concerts will make the local season the longest in the orchestra's history.

Among the scheduled guest artists are piano soloists Robert Casadesus, Philippe Entremont, and Rudolf Firkusny. Violinists will be Christian Ferras, Zvi Zeitlin, Erica Morini, Henryk Szeryng and concertmaster Jacob Krachmalnick.

Casadesus will be soloist in Mozart's Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, K. 491, in December 16, 17 and 18 concerts which also include Britten's Sinfonia de Requiem and Shostakovich's Symphony No. 9.

Last season ticket subscribers are requested to indicate their ticket requests for the season prior to August 31, after which time all unrenewed ticket locations will be made available to new season-ticket applicants.

Information or ticket orders can be obtained from the Opera-Symphony Box Offices at Sherman Clay and Company, 141 Kearny Street, or the north lobby box office at the Opera House.

COMMENT

Crystal Springs: Finally, a Study

AFTER DECADES of dodging by cautious water officials, San Francisco's new Mayor John Shelley has asked new Public Utilities Manager James K. Carr, former undersecretary of the interior, to make a study of the feasibility of opening portions of the giant Crystal Springs watershed area to the public for use as a wilderness recreation area.

Thus, after long, wasted years, during which the people of the Bay Area have been denied the use of a natural heritage and a natural resource, we are to have fresh minds and fresh viewpoints brought to bear upon an old issue.

Perhaps, at last, the wall over which millions of people have seen a tantalizing vista of unrivalled natural beauty will be breached.

The breach might be small, if real, because Shelley's ideas would not permit the usage of the lakes and coincide with the views expressed three years ago by the San Mateo County-San Francisco Mutual Problems Committee, which is headed by Charles Gregg of San Mateo County.

Those recommendations, says Gregg, would restrict any opening of the watershed to those areas which would present no danger of pollution of the water supplies contained in the lakes and would call for strictest policing of the opened areas to prevent any desecration of their natural beauties.

This seems eminently fair and reasonable although it does not take into account the technological and engineering advances in water purification methods that could permit even greater usage of the watershed area and the lakes for public recreation purposes.

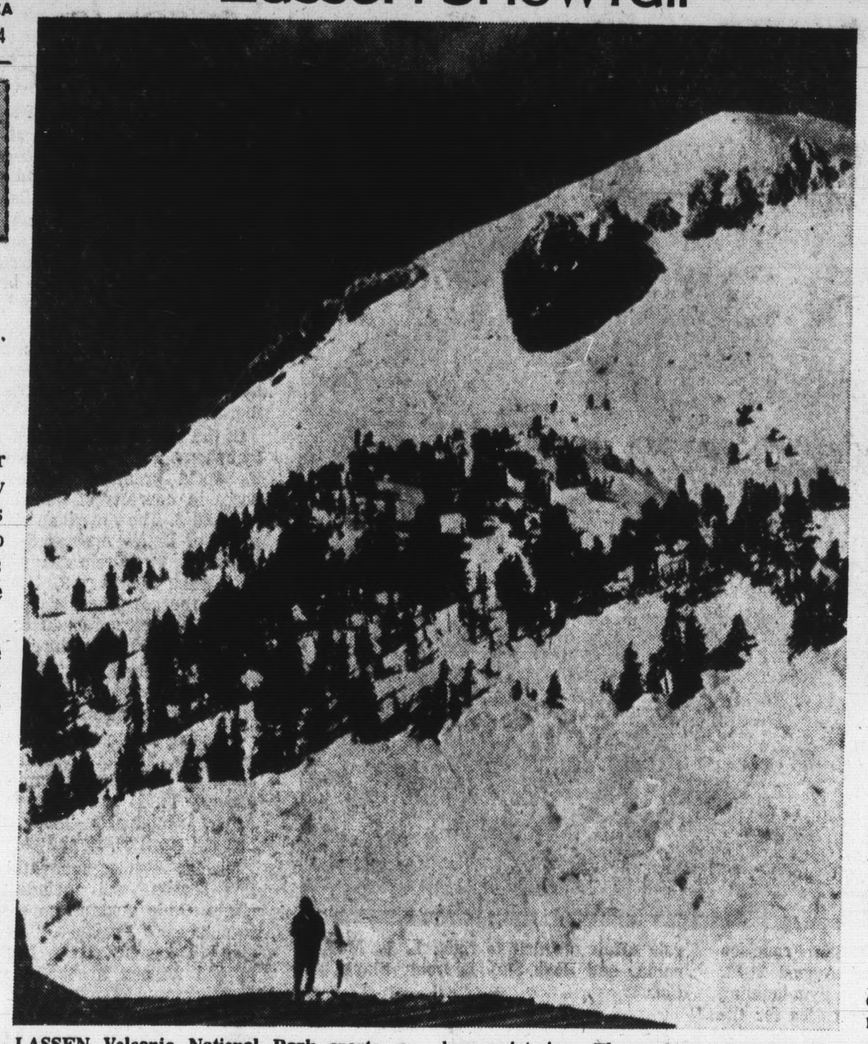
Nor does it take into account the opinions and the concern of many well-informed people that such modern methods of water treatment should have been placed in use long ago.

NEVERTHELESS, the report on feasibility of usage of parts of this scenic wonderland called for by Mayor Shelley, and outlined for survey by the Mutual Problems Committee, is the first real indication that the protracted, stubborn resistance to the needs and rights of the public by water department officials is to be penetrated.

It is also very encouraging that the study ordered by the mayor will be made by a public utilities manager who gained broad insight into the best and proper use of natural resources during his highly successful career in the Department of the Interior.

Compliments are very much in order to Mayor Shelley for giving an order that water officials had shied away from, and to Chairman Gregg and his committee for pointing a sensible way of tackling the problem. It is to be hoped that this beginning can lead the way to even greater use and enjoyment by the public of the splendid natural resource they have eyed in vain for so long.

Lassen Snowfall



LASSEN Volcanic National Park sports a mantle of snow throughout the year, although in summer months, patches of the white stuff may be found only on top of 10,457-foot-high Lassen Peak. This is a view of the peak and a plowed roadway. Photo was taken in early June. Lassen erupted May 30, 1914, but has been quiet since. The park now includes 148 miles of trails. It is roughly 130 miles north of Sacramento or 50 miles east of Red Bluff. This is another in a series of photos depicting parks and historical areas within a day's driving time of the North County.

The Comparisons Are Inevitable

Don Miller

NEW YORK — To a former Easterner vacationing in his native state and in the town he called home for three years, the comparisons with California, and, in particular, the Bay Area are numerous and inevitable.

As we sit here in an air-conditioned (providentially) Manhattan apartment, we're already lamenting the absence of that humidity-free, wind-washed atmosphere that Bay Area folk enjoy almost every day of the year.

For as this is written, New York is gripped by a heat wave, the likes of which remind us of those bygone days when we labored on Wall Street and each day began with a refreshing shower and a clean, starched shirt—all to be followed by a 30-minute ride in a sandwich-packed subway car in temperatures that surely must prevail where the man with the fork holds court.

At the end of the subway ride, we would stagger forth (or be pushed forth) —feeling that we hadn't bathed since birth and with our white shirt now slightly gray and sporting more wrinkles than a prune.

By glorious contrast, in the Bay Area we drive to work in a top-down (sometimes) auto with the assurance that body and soul will closely resemble at journey's end what had been assembled after the alarm clock had sounded.

THERE HAS BEEN, of course, a great deal written and said about the good neighbor manners displayed by East and West Coast Americans and in this rather sensitive area, the contrast we found more acute than ever.

Almost immediately after arriving at Kennedy Internaional Airport, we sensed a chill that had no meteorological foundation. From the brusque gal at the newsstand to the airport limousine driver who never so much as grunted when we forked over our $1.75 for what turned out to be a hair-raising ride into Manhattan, there seemed to be an atmosphere of "so what's your problem, Mac?"

In fact, you got the suspicion that requesting change for the telephone would be comparable in its manifestations to having the Security Council request Russia to get out of Berlin.

Earlier on the plane, we had been reading the letters to the editor in that august and gray journal, The New York Times, and noted that one New Yorker had wailed about visiting non-New Yorkers being more surly and abrupt than Gotham folk.

Well, after spending just a few days here, we can't buy that kind of hometown, chest-thumping malarky—by any stretch of the usual rules of courtesy and common regard.

Whatever the reason, the people who staff New York's service businesses seem to us to be even more unfriendly than ever. Which is too bad because however many shortcomings this city has, it still must be considered the world's most dynamic metropolis.

ONE OF THE most interesting aspects of New York in this first year of its fair is a current drive against jaywalking and, in particular, against widespread antipathy toward the red light on the part of pedestrians.

Unlike California, the motorist in New York reigns over the pedestrian and woe be to the day-dreamer who steps idly off a Manhattan curb without several swivels of the head beforehand.

Nonetheless, despite the motorists' reign, New York's pavement pounders have long been distinguished (or indistinguished) by their impatience and stubbornness at crosswalks (at times, you'd think those "don't walk" signals were in Chinese) and the current anti-jaywalk drive is geared to make sidewalks seem like glue when the light turns red.

All this can be quickly compared to our safety-minded Bay Area pedestrian who, we think you'll agree, largely holds his ground when the signal blinks "don't walk" and if he does succumb to a spate of impatience, is quickly heeded by motorists—sans their horns.

JUST LIKE the scripts of other visits to this crowded island over years past, the current plot has been heavy with a certain amount of awe at the way the city continues to add great towers of steel, concrete and glass without the whole business slowly sinking beneath the Hudson.

What has particularly caught our rubber-necking fancy on the current invasion is wrapped up in two Heaven-aimed structures designed to provide the ultimate in hostelry—the new Americana and Hilton Hotels. We always hesitate to make uncomplimentary comparisons between San Francisco and New York (you see, our Bay Area allegiance is complete now) but you could probably plant San Francisco's new Hilton on just a few floors of her new New York sister.

The most startling change of all to greet us we found in Times Square where progress has launched a blitzkrieg on a building we had considered impervious to the demands of tomorrow — the former New York Times Tower on the south end of the square.

The proud old lady, perish the thought, has been stripped of all her masonry and now stands in the altogether, her steel skeleton awaiting a new wardrobe of the building materials of the 1960s.

The matron of the world's crossroads, when her wardrobe is complete, will boast a rooftop restaurant and an electronic board that will flash news headlines—just like the good old days.

New Yorkers, by and large, are sorry to see the old gal getting dolled up in new duds We have to agree with them. We've always felt that Manhattan would never REALLY change as long as the Times Tower held its ground.

Why the whole business is as bad as if they decided to suit up the Golden Gate Bridge in a mantle of blue. Great galloping ghosts! Wouldn't that be appalling?

Ron Bates

A FOUR-STORY apartment building is on the drawing boards for an area near Peoria and Wellington Streets in the older section of Daly City.

Now four-story buildings in themselves are a bit unusual in Daly City. That's the reason a builder must get a variance first. But that's not the most interesting thing about this giant-sized package.

What is interesting is the fact that it will be the first time that a project will have strings attached to it by the city council's new architectural committee.

The developer, E. T. Komsthoeft, will have to make plans for 20 additional parking spaces above and beyond the city's required one-for-one stipulation. And he'll have to extend one street, pave two nearby streets and maintain a 15-foot setback from any of the existing homes in the area.

Komsthoeft has agreed to all of the strings and city approval seems imminent. It is hung up now by the council because of a mixup in the records of property adjacent to it.

THE ARCHITECTURAL committee had a dubious birth in March this year, just before the city elections. At that time, the council had three hot potatoes before it and was looking for an ice bucket to toss them in to cool them down.

The committee, from all appearances, appeared to be that bucket.

Then, right after the elections that returned the incumbents to office, two of the projects were approved but no strings were attached.

Whether or not it was a political gimmick isn't the point so much now. What is, I think is that the move is a big step from the gas to the brake pedal on construction of apartment buildings in Daly City.

I'd like to see more of it.

The Post has editorially voiced concern over large boxes, with windows, which are passed off as apartments along Bayshore Freeway and Colma, being built in Daly City.

After looking at some of these, it would appear that the only difference between those "apartments" and warehouses is that there are people living in some of them.

DALY CITY appears to be on its way to a record in apartment house construction —and this does not include Serramonte. It seems that the construction of single family homes has become "economically unfeasible" and that apartments are going up left and right.

Don't get us wrong. We don't want to discourage apartment buildings — just boxes.

I guess there comes a point in just about everything where you can overdo things. And, perhaps, society may tend to over-legislate what is good and what is bad.

What an architect creates may be in his mind "beautiful" but to everybody else it may appear "ugly." I'll confess I cannot understand or appreciate abstract art, unless my two-year-old daughter creates it. But there are those who are crazy about it.

MAYBE IN this regard we should be careful about putting too much restriction on architecture. After all, we don't want to stifle any budding Frank Lloyd Wrights.

But certainly, the architectural committee, if it is on the ball, can in specific instances extract some things from builders that are needed.

In this case, parking is a problem and it would be a bigger problem with a four-story apartment house. Also the street improvement will be a welcome relief.

When a guy has to put out additional funds for all these things, you know he isn't going to throw up a sloppy-looking building.

Daly City's planners are now putting the finishing touches on a new zoning ordinance that will put some restrictions on property owners and give some leeway to architects who are frustrated by the owners' desire to get the most out of their money by pushing everything to the limit.

Thus armed with two effective weapons, the city shouldn't help but grow up healthy and without new apartment slums.

The Marquee

Understudy No Longer

Barbara Bladen

THE THEATRICAL counterpart to "always a bridesmaid, never a bride" was Rosemary Rainer's plight: "always an understudy, never a star." Until last week when she opened in the coveted role of Eliza in Melodyland's production of "My Fair Lady."

Miss Rainer, a distant relative to the beautiful Austrian actress, Luise Rainer, is a piquant redhead who has understudied the role on Broadway for so many years she considers it her alter ego. She recently completed a three-week run as the Shavian Pygmalion opposite Ray Milland in Highland Park, Ill.

It's a role no particular actress can claim as her own, except possibly Julie Andrews and Audrey Hepburn who were the first to introduce Eliza to the stage and movie audiences, respectively.

The script was subsequently handed to Lola Fisher, Ann Rogers, Marilyn Taylor, Sally Ann Howes, Pamela Charles, Diane Todd, Caroline Dixson, Gaylea Byrnes, Margo Mosher, Helen Ahola (who is not Hawaiian but Finnish), Jane Powell and Barbara Williams. That's not counting European productions.

MY SCHEDULE shows five different productions of "My Fair Lady" to be reviewed this year. But it wears well. The character development is much better in the musical than in the play, especially for Henry Higgins. Maybe that's why some actors have made a career in the role.

Ronald Drake looks and sounds so much like Higgins, patrons of the Garden Court where we lunched did double takes as they passed the table. He was San Francisco's "first" when we saw the national road company at the Geary.

Drake, who has crossed the country seven times with stopoffs at a tent theatre in Cleveland, had to leave England to play the British phonetics professor. He hadn't even appeared in "Pygmalion" in his native setting.

"I might someday want to play another role but except for King and I, parts in musicals for non-singing, non-dancing actors are few and far between."

Miss Rainer is no less "fair" for having suffered the frustration of waiting in the wings for so many years (she was Anne Rogers' understudy in San Francisco) because she has a permanent job of greater importance to her. That of wife and mother.

Peninsula Panorama

Barbecue Has Its Hazards

George Whitesell

THE FUN AND CONVIVIALITY of a patio barbecue are traditional here on this Peninsula where outdoor living has been the most highly developed, if not invented.

But it is a good thing to keep in mind that there are hazards as well as fun connected with these backyard festivities.

These are real dangers, not just the risk of burning up a $4.85 steak or a brace of chickens.

Charcoal is the fuel most commonly used and many people do not know that it gives off copious amounts of deadly carbon monoxide.

From the days of the cave-men charcoal has claimed unknowing or careless victims who made the mistake of burning charcoal in closed rooms.

Therefore, when Peninsula winds get gusty, the temperature takes a sudden drop, or raindrops patter unseasonably down, don't commit the error of wheeling the charcoal brazier or barbecue cooker indoors.

This can be fatal.

In the open air, or properly vented, charcoal is perfectly safe. It is a clean and reliable fuel. If you ever have a disastrous experience with it—this will likely be your fault and not the fault of the charcoal.

THIS IS EVEN more true with respect to the various igniters used for starting a charcoal fire. The carbon monoxide gas of the charcoal itself is invisible, but the cans of lighting fluid carelessly handled by so many people are almost as dangerous as dynamite if misused.

The approved lighting fluids, and don't buy any other kind, have a low flash point and are relatively safe to keep around the house.

But even they can explode into searing flame if mishandled or improperly used.

They are meant only for use according to the directions on the container. They should be kept away from all fire and flame, especially burning cigarettes.

CARE SHOULD be used in pouring these fluids, just as if they were gasoline. Some of the containers have an arrangement for squirting the lighting fluid on charcoal or other fuel.

Either way, the fluid is to be used only as directed and the charcoal on which the lighting fluid has been placed should not be ignited until after the container has been re-sealed and placed a safe distance away.

Never, never, never pour or squirt any of this fluid on charcoal that has already been lighted—even when there appears to be no trace of fire. You can't see it, but even a little fire will have created a highly volatile gas emanating from the pile of charcoal.

If you have any respect for your eyelashes, eyebrows, or possibly your moustache, don't lean your face over the charcoal when you are re-lighting it.

Pouring or squirting inflammable fluid on smouldering charcoal is just asking for tragedy.

The flame can travel back along the poured fluid or squirted stream almost faster than lightening.

If that happens, the container will explode and cover you with flaming fluid. Hospitals have had plenty of patients who learned this the hard way.

And the cemeteries have some people who learned about this danger too late.

GASOLINE OR kerosene should never be used for lighting charcoal. They are far more dangerous than the approved lighting fluids and will also impart a disagreeable flavor to whatever you are barbecuing.

Some Peninsulans use real kindling, empty wax milk cartons, or special dry fuels for igniting charcoal.

Thousands use the electric lighters and they are the safest, even if the slowest.

There are other, lesser dangers around the barbecue brazier.

Don't lean over it with loose or flapping shirttails. Don't let a necktie light up like a slow fuse——some synthetic fabrics burn very fast.

Wear an apron, wear padded gloves, and have water and burn remedy handy.

Lastly, don't dump hot coals in a paper carton and put them in the garage. You'd be surprised how many houses have burned down that way.

The Book Shelf

By SAM CHANDLER
Daly City Librarian

THROUGHOUT the intergration-segregation battle, the book world has been straining to define and discuss the issues involved. No informed American can ignore its efforts.

Among the newest discussions is "Integration Versus Segregation," by Senator Hubert H. Humphreys.

Here the man who led the fight for the civil rights bill presents five major documents from recent Supreme Court decisions and subsequent commentaries on school integration by authorities concerned with the implications.

The articles are conducive to thoughtful debate in communities such as ours.

"Ten Years of Prelude," by Benjamin Muse, is subtitled "the story of integration since the Supreme Court's 1954 decision." This is a review of the impact of the civil rights battle with all its depth of personal and sectional prejudice.

CHARLES E. SILBERMAN's "Crisis in Black and White" presents the thesis that northern leaders treat the Negro as just another immigrant who will in time be assimilated as other ethnic and national groups have been.

"But," says Mr. Silberman, "more thoughtful and less condescending means must be adopted to give the Negro more pride and dignity than he now has."

This thesis is supported by Jackie Robinson's "Baseball Has Done It," which is a record of Negro athletes trying to forget that their grandfathers were slaves and their very surnames were those of the masters who subjected their nameless ancestors.

Finally there is "White On Black" where E. B. Thompson and Herbert Nipson have collected 21 articles, published by white men in "Ebony" magazine. Critics have called this title a timely disclosure of an evolution of justice."

Each of these titles are found in the Daly City Public Library.

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY, COLMA, PACIFICA AND SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

COAST CHURCH SCHOOL

They'll Pool Their Talents

Three churches of different denominations in the Linda Mar section of Pacifica will begin a new experiment in teaching Monday.

They will pool the talents of their members in a summer vacation church school. Participating will be Pedro Valley Presbyterian Church, St. Edmund's Episcopal Church and Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Each church will be responsible for one area of teaching.

This, according to church personnel, will allow pastors and the church school superintendent to supervise a select group of teachers and train them efficiently so that a better teaching program can be presened.

Kindergarten children will be taught at Holy Cross Lutheran, primary children at Pedro Valley Presbyterian and junior children at St. Edmunds Episcopal.

Registration is now being conducted at each of the churches. A registration period also will be held from 12:30 to 1 p.m. each day before school begins.

Classes will run from 1 to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday through August 21.

Superintendents for each department are: kindergarten, Mrs. Eleanore McMahin; primary, Mrs. Betty Hayes, and junior, Mrs. Charlotte Galten.

Registration fee is $1 per child for the first two in a family and 50 cents for each additional child, the total not to exceed $4 for a family.

Boy's Camp Opening Set

Four boys from Westside Baptist Church will attend the junior Boy's Camp of the Northern California Baptist Conference, opening at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Alton Swedberg, superintendent of Westside's Sunday School, is the camp director this year.

The four boys are Bobby Besser, Mike Navarro, David Pollock and Paul Donnelly. The camp will close at noon, August 15.

The Rev. Robert Pollock, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of Visalia, will be the camp pastor and speaker.

Bible School To Be Offered By Lutherans

A Vacation Bible School will be conducted at Hope Lutheran Church, at 55 San Fernando Way, Daly City, from Monday to August 10.

Morning sessions from 9:30 until noon will be for children from age three through those entering the second grade.

The afternoon sessions from 1 to 3 will be for children entering the third grade up to and including the eighth grade.

Mrs. Louis Bizjak will serve as superintendent. She will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Banks, Mrs. Ed Muller and Mrs. William Maches.

The Rev. Arnim H. Polster will serve as advisor for the school.

The theme will be "God, My Country and I."

Recreation for the children will be supervised by members of the Walther League of Hope Lutheran Church.

Hours for August Set

Broadmoor Presbyterian Church will hold Sunday morning worship services at 10 a.m. each Sunday this month.

During the Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie's vacation, different organizations of the church will lead and sponsor the services.

This Sunday, church trustees will handle the service. Gerrit Harder will speak.

August 16, Dr. Baird Whitlock, an elder, will speak in a service sponsored by the church session. August 23, the choir will be in charge and August 30, the United Presbyterian Men's Chapter will conduct the service.

Training for Bethel Series Is Scheduled

The Rev. Irvin Tweet, pastor of Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church in South San Francisco, is enlisting a corps of prospective lay teachers to be committed to a two-year teacher training program in preparation for the congregation's use of The Bethel Series.

The series is an extensive adult Bible study program now being used by some 800 churches throughout the nation.

By the fall of 1966, 10 teacher trainees at Our Redeemer's will join an estimated 12,000 teachers throughout the country in teaching the series to classes of 30 adults each in their respective congregations.

Reverend Tweet recently returned from an intensive two-week Bethel Series orientation meeting at Madison, Wis.

The series uses a set of 40 dramatic paintings and emphasizes rigid teacher disciplines. Its purpose is to acquaint adults with unifying Biblical themes.

Pastor Sets Sermon Topic

"The Chosen Ones" will be the subject of a sermon to be given by the Rev. A. David Donnelly at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at Westside Baptist Church.

At the 7 p.m. evening Gospel service, Reverend Donnelly will speak on the topic: "Means to an End."

Sheehan said that 24 convention departments have already been organized and hundreds of persons from ten congregations are presently seeking rooming accommodations in Santa Rosa for the expected 4,000 delegates.

Mayfair SUPER MARKETS — WE GIVE S&H GREEN STAMPS

PRICES EFFECTIVE SEVEN FULL DAYS, FROM WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 5th THROUGH TUESDAY, AUG. 11th

In fact, take six or eight... just be sure to buy enough!

We're duty-bound to tell you: ONE of our London Broils is simply not going to satisfy the normal appetite. Especially when that appetite has been whetted by the sight, sound and aroma of these delectable Mayfair Blue Ribbon Steaks sizzling over the glowing hickory-charcoal fire.
Our research shows that it'll take TWO London Broils per person to do the job . . . maybe more. Because they're so deliciously juicy and "grill-able"! We introduced these exclusive "hand-made" gourmet steaks some months ago. Word got around and we just had to feature them again. If you haven't served them yet, one of these warm patio-evenings would be the perfect time!

The Top Winner

BETTY LUKSIC, a San Francisco nurse, happily receives the keys to a new Ford Mustang she won in a drawing sponsored by Westlake Shopping Center merchants. Turning over the keys is Gene Perry, advertising-promotion director for Henry Doelger Builder. (Post-Times Photo)

32,500 TO 1 SHOT

S.F. Nurse Wins Car in Drawing

A pretty San Francisco nurse who had, in her own words, "never won anything in my life," bucked odds of 32,500 to 1 last week to win a bright, new Ford Mustang in a drawing sponsored by Westlake Shopping Center merchants.

Betty Luksic of 1366½ Francisco Street, a nurse in the physical therapy department at Sutter Towers Hospital, was notified about her good fortune Monday morning by Gene Perry, advertising-promotion director of Henry Doelger Builder.

"At first," Perry recalled, "she thought I was a peddler, calling to make a sale. She didn't believe me. She had forgotten about the contest."

Miss Luksic held two of 65,000 tickets given out during a month-long promotion conducted in the shopping center. That gave her odds of 32,500 to 1.

The Mustang winner had been driving an older model car. That went by the ways Monday night when she picked up her prize at Doane-Minto Ford Sales in Burlingame.

Miss Luksic said she had deposited the two drawing tickets during a shopping trip to Westlake, which she described as "one-stop" shopping.

The auto was the top award in a raft of prizes given away in the drawing. More than 3,000 shoppers turned out Friday night in the center's mall to hear the names of winners announced.

The value of all prizes totaled more than $5,000. Here are the other winners:

$10, Westlake Music Center, Rita Barranti of 701 Leon Crest Drive, South San Francisco; man's wrist watch, $65, H.J. Franey of 16 Long View, Daly City, and ladies slippers, Pottye Bailey, of 636 El Camino, South San Francisco.

$10, Pauson's, Henry Hall of 179 Northridge Drive, Daly City; ladies wrist watch, $79, William Bronson of 18 Ocean Grove Avenue, Daly City; luggage, Mildred Layton of 5 Coronado Street, Daly City.

Drill, Lucia Cavallaro of 99 Fairway Drive, Daly City; ladies wrist watch, $71.50, Jean McGrath of 177 Verona Avenue, Pacifica, and portrait, Anna Mirades of 157 Cero Drive, Daly City.

Barbecue set, M. Lackie of 198 Southgate Avenue, Daly City; $20 a month for one year, John Preinchitti of San Francisco, and $10, Casual Aire, A. E. C. Sheriff of 355 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City.

Man's wrist watch, $85 Alice Anderese of San Francisco; $10, Jay Vee, Gloria Sopher, of 426 Westdale Avenue, Daly City, and ladies wrist watch, $79.50, Jo Omayski of San Francisco.

Man's wrist watch, $65, Fred Davies of San Francisco; $10, H. Liebes, Mrs. Ellen Fong of 45 Baldwin Avenue, Daly City, and man's wrist watch, $71.50, R. Benny of San Francisco.

Electric blanket, Albert I. Amado of 277 Sagamore Street, San Francisco; man's wrist watch, $71.50, T. F. Carrock of 63 Oaklawn Drive, Daly City, and buffet table, E. DaSilva of San Francisco.

Man's wrist watch, $85, Eva Nahale of 432 Glasgow Drive, Pacifica, and radio, Don's TV, Mickey Ellis of 174 Fleetwood Drive, Daly City.

They Hoped to Hear Their Names

PART OF a crowd of more than 3000 shoppers who were on hand for the Westlake Shopping Center's prize drawings Friday night is shown clustered around blackboards, which later listed winners' names. The drawings, held at 8:15 and 9:15 p.m., were conducted in the center's mall. More than $5,000 worth of prizes, including a new Ford Mustang, were given away. Shoppers had deposited free coupons earlier in the sales promotion to be eligible for the prizes.

Local Airman Finishes Basic

Airman Charles D. Humbel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Humbel of 624 Navarre Drive, Pacifica, has completed the first phase of his Air Force basic military training at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Airman Humbel has been selected for technical training as a missile maintenance specialist at the Air Training Command (ATC) school at Chanute AFB, Ill. His new unit is part of the vast ATC system which trains airmen and officers in the diverse skills required by the nation's aerospace force.

The airman is a 1963 graduate of Terra Nova High School.

Information Readied for Trade Fair

Who are the interested buyers of ladies' hats or sellers of refrigeration units in the San Francisco Bay Area?

What is the freight rate on automotive parts to the Philippines?

How can a tour of an electronics plant be arranged?

These and thousands of similar questions are asked by businessmen at an international trade fair. They need accurate answers.

Cognizant of this fact, the Junior World Trade Association of the San Francisco Chamber off Commerce has a group of young men working on a project that will provide answers to all such queries at the Seventh United States World Trade Fair to be held Seeptember 10 to 20, at the Civic Auditorium, Brooks Hall, under the auspices of the City off San Francisco.

JWTA is now assembling directories of information — such as manufacturers, wholesalers, transportation companies, export and import companies, department store buyers.

In essence, JWTA will provide for fingertip information a miniature international business library.

This catalogued information will then be disseminated from its booth at the fair by other members of JWTA who will be specially schooled in the use of such data.

Business in Area Is Up

First half 1964 business activity reached an all-time high in the San Francisco Bay Area, the six-month period registering an 8.4 per cent increase over the like period last year.

The figures are from the Wells Fargo Bank regional index of economic activity.

The Bay Area increase was virtually identical with Northern California (8.5 per cent) and ahead of the state's 7.9 per cent.

On a five-year basis, Bay Area business for the first six months registered a 41 per cent increase over the index base of 1957-1959.

New System In Operation

A revolutionary stock ticker display system, which shows stock prices instantaneously, is now in operation in the Parkmerced office of Birr, Wilson & Company, at 51 Cambon Drive, San Francisco.

The ten-foot long unit, designed and manufactured by by Ultronic Systems Corporation, flashes stock symbols, number of shares traded and prices by means of stationary rather than moving characters.

In contrast with the projector type ticker, Lectrascan's information is read in the conventional left to right fashion.

The Lectrascan, with its nonmoving luminous orange characters, was designed to make ticker reports easier to read.

Extensive testing by the U.S. Air Force has proved that stationary characters are easier to recognize and retain than moving characters.

Lectrascan is capable of price information at high speed and is fully compatible with the present 500 characters-per-minute ticker. From six to ten transactions can be seen simultaneously.

A Collapsing Wall Is Caught by the Camera

HISTORIC TRACK RAZED

Arson in Tanforan Fire Considered a Possibility

By GEORGE GOLDING

The possibility of arson has been raised in the wake of a raging fire that completely destroyed the clubhouse and grandstand at San Bruno's Tanforan Racetrack Friday.

"There's always a chance of arson in something like this," said San Bruno Fire Captain Gus Felix. "We are conducting an investigation into the possibility of arson."

The track was once owned by the late John W. Marchbank of Daly City who restored the oval, first built in 1899.

The investigation into the cause of the blaze got under way this morning even as ashes still smouldered among the twisted steel girders of the once-proud racetrack buildings.

The fire raged for three hours and attracted thousands of persons to the scene.

According to San Bruno Fire Chief Herb Freitas, the blaze started at about 5 o'clock in a second-floor level of bleachers north of the grandstand.

Chief Freitas said he did not know the cause, but he noted that the building was due for destruction soon, to make way for some development the Gilmore corporation of Los Angeles is planning.

One report from a reliable source said the blaze seemed to have started in a cardboard box in the bleacher section. By the time the viewer crossed El Camino Real to report the blaze, by telephone, nearly the whole section of seats was said to have been engulfed in flames.

Police Officer Fred Gillen said he was on the scene minutes after the blaze started, and the entire north bleacher section seemed to go "poof" and burst into a solid mass of flame.

Within minutes the tinder-dry structure was blazing for hundreds of feet along El Camino, and smoke billowed skyward in such clouds it was visible from the San Mateo bridge.

Urged southward by a strong wind, the flames gobbled their way through bleacher seats and into the clubhouse proper. Within an hour, the entire structure was doomed, with only steel girders remaining inside and the Old English facade standing along El Camino. The heat was so great that 12-inch square girders twisted like limp licorice sticks.

All available San Bruno firefighters and equipment were called into action, along with men and equipment from South San Francisco, Millbrae, San Mateo and Burlingame.

The north section was soon burned out, and the white outer wall collapsed with a roar across the two northbound lanes of El Camino near Sneath Lane.

Behind the blaze, heavy smoke rolled across the golf course, and operators of the Tanforan Golf Course emptied their pro shop of sports clothes and golf clothes, dumping them into a pickup truck to avoid loss by fire.

Although several smaller blazes were started downwind by flying sparks none of them was serious.

San Bruno police, early on the scene, called in every off-duty man and started using reserve officers as traffic control men for blocks around the huge fire.

Autos jammed the San Bruno Avenue overpass at Bayshore Freeway, clogging San Bruno Avenue as far west as Junipero Serra. With El Camino Real cut by smouldering ruins and fire hoses at the busiest hour, South San Francisco police helped by re-routing traffic to Junipero Serra and Skyline.

Although cars were not permitted within at least a block of the racetrack, spectators on foot made their way along El Camino and stood on naval base property across the street.

Some of them cheered as sections of the old structure tumbled. Except for the early loss of the grandstand wall to El Camino Real, other walls collapsed only inward, and in sections, pushed by the strong winds and powerful sprays from hoses.

The loss, in dollars, has yet to be toted up, and there was apparently little personal property damage. At least one auto, stored near the grandstand by a golf course aide, was severely burned.

The course itself apparently was little damaged, although some of the nearby trees were scorched and covered with cinders.

By 7:30, only a hulk remained, still pouring clouds of smoke into the takeoff pattern at San Francisco's International Airport, still burning inside, but with only the twisted steel skeleton and the lower levels of the building remaining.

Even the spectators were leaving, and one fireman said:

"Well, there went our history."

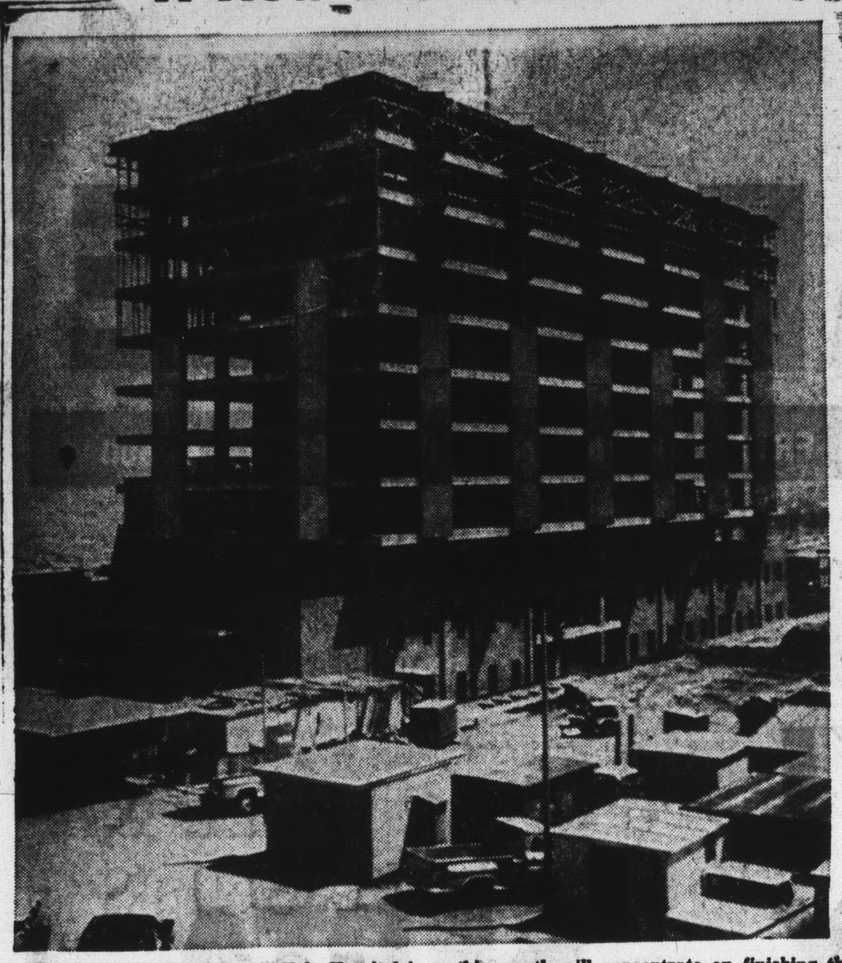
A New D.C. Landmark



CONSTRUCTION of Mary's Help Hospital is nearing the halfway point. The building's ten floors have been erected and workmen later this month will concentrate on finishing the interior of the structure. Opening is set for November 1, 1965. (Post-Times Photo)

MORE FUNDS NEEDED

Hospital Nears Halfway Point

Construction of the new $8.5-million Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City is nearing the halfway mark, hospital officials have announced.

The building is now 44 per cent completed.

Later this month, all ten floors of the structure will be "roughed in," giving the building a finished look.

A huge crane that has been used to erect sections will be dismantled at that time and workmen will concentrate mainly on finishing the interior of the building.

Opening of the new hospital, the North County's first major medical facility of its size, is still scheduled for November 1, 1964.

A spokesman for the general contractor, the L. P. Lathrop Company of Berkeley, has reported that the firm is ahead of schedule and may complete construction a month earlier than anticipated.

Meanwhile, hospital officials have disclosed that a building fund drive is still a half million dollars short of a $1.5-million goal.

They also disclosed that without the remaining funds, an outpatient clinic and a completely equipped emergency department may not be completed when the hospital opens.

Contributions may be sent to the Mary's Help Hospital Building Fund, 145 Guerrero Street, San Francisco 3.

The non-profit, voluntary hospital will be open to all patients, regardless of race, religion or economic status.

The car was driven by Harold T. Simpson, 32, of 143 San Anselmo Avenue, San Bruno.

Simpson told officers he was starting into the intersection after making a stop when he suddenly saw the motorbike approaching and was unable to stop.

Javillo complained of pains in his left leg and was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

A Milestone

ARMANDO J. ZIRPOLI, manager of the Westlake Branch of the Bank of America, receives a diamond studded pin denoting 40 years of service from assistant branch manager Lou Gazzano. The portrait behind them is of A.P. Giannini, founder of the bank, and a man for whom Zirpoli was a messenger early in his career. (Post-Times Photo)

Westlake Bank Manager Starts His 40th Year

Armando J. Zirpoli, manager of the Westlake Branch of the Bank of America, began his fortieth year with the firm Monday.

His is a career that begin as a messenger at the Clay-Montgomery branch in San Francisco—a branch he was eventually to manage.

The veteran banker is a vice president in the company and has been manager of the Westlake branch since March of 1962.

His position in Daly City was the first in his 40-year career outside of San Francisco. He attained manager status in 1945.

A native of Denver, Colo., he served as a business development vice president in the bank's head office for a year before assuming his present duties.

Zirpoli combines an active civic schedule in addition to his banking duties.

In Daly City, he is a director of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Rotary Club and has taken an active leadership role in the Mary's Help Hospital Fund Drive in Daly City.

He also has been active in the Italian and San Francisco Chambers of Commerce, Columbus Civic Club, Il Cenacolo Club, and is vice president of Les Compagnons.

Zirpoli is a vice preseident and director of the San Francisco Market Corporation, organized to reloçate and develop the Islais Creek produce market.

He lives at 148 Mallorca Way in San Francisco.

Equalization Tax Change Questioned

The special equalization tax rate for schools in San Mateo County will be nearly doubled this year if a formula fixed by the State Board of Equalization becomes official.

County Assessor Ralph B. Woodman said, however, that hte state's figures "do not reflect true conditions in this county" and suggested that the county ask for a hearing before the state board.

The suggestion was to be considered yestreday by the County Board of Supervisors.

Woodman said the state board has decided to decrtase hte ratio of average assessments to market value in San Mateo County from 21.8 per cent to 19.2 per cent.

This would mean that the school equalization tax, which is levied to assure that no county gets more estate aid that it is entitled to merely because its assessments are too low would be raised from the present 5.9-cent rate to approximately 11 cents.

In a letter to the Board of Supervisors, County Manager E. R. Stallings said the Woodman has facts and figures to support his contention that the state has erred.

"He believes his presentation before the state board will bring relief to county taxpayers by a reduction of the mandatory tax rate which provides equalization aid for schools," Stallings said.

Like Father, Like Son

PAUL H. GRANTHAN of 36 Duval Drive, South San Francisco, takes the oath of enlistment from his father, Cmdr. Joseph A. Grantham, at the U.S. Navy Recruiting Office at 6705 Mission Street, Daly City. The commander is a veteran of 26 years active Naval service and is serving as commanding officer of a Navy communications station in Greece. Paul is a 1964 graduate of El Camino High School.

HE LEFT TOO SOON

A Yacht Club To the Rescue

Because James Carlson, of 422 Beech Avenue, South San Francisco, departed for New York sooner than he was expected to participate in the Experiment in International Living Program, he arrived in Gotham without hotel reservations.

When the student's plight was discovered, he became a guest of the plush New York Yacht Club until his charter flight left for Paris.

James is one of 10 students in the nation to go to Norway this summer. Three of those 10 students are from California.

While in Trondheim, Norway, he will live with physician-psychiatrist Dr. John Berge and his family.

For two weeks of his stay in Norway, he will work in a camp for either mentally retarded or physically handicapped children, according to his mother, Mrs. D. I. Carlson.

A Boy Scout patrol leader the South San Francisco High School senior prefers teaching younger boys. Having two younger brothers, Jim has learned patience and understanding.

He also has a younger sister. According to Mrs. Carlson, Jim's goal in life is to obtain a doctorate.

Pacifican Kills Self

Joseph Meeker, 48, of 776 Lockhaven Drive, Pacifica, was found dead Friday in the home of his son-in-law, the apparent victim of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Meeker, a former circulation employe of the San Francisco Examiner and the Chronicle, was found in the home of Howard A. Briggs, 335 Heathcliff Drive.

Deputy Coroner Robert Jessen said it appeard as though Meeker had broken into his son-in-law's house and then taken a .22-caliber revolver from a gun cabinet before shooting himself in the head. The gun was found near the body.

The body was discovered by Briggs and his wife when they returned home from a shopping trip.

Pacifica police said no notes were discovered nor was any reason known why Meeker would wish to take his own life.

AERIAL BROKEN

Theodore Adriano of 42 Robinson Drive, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that vandals had broken off the aerial on his auto.

S.S.F. Man Is Stabbed

John Freeland, 739 Airport Boulevard, South San Francisco, was treated at County General Hospital last Wednesday, after he received a superficial slash on his abdomen during an argument.

South San Francisco police say Freeland was stabbed by Donald L. Davis, 27, of the same address after Davis accused Freeland of making advances at Mrs. Davis, 22.

Freeland was a houseguest at the Davis apartment, police say.

Freeland was released after his would was treated.

Cheese Cake Is A Cool Dessert

A perfectly baked cheese cake is a special dessert. It's cool and refreshing and suitable for many occasions, even for a birthday. It is especially nice when served as a late evening refreshment.

Lemon Cheese Cake

1⅓ cups zwieback crumbs (about 19 slices)
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup margarine, melted
1 pound cottage cheese
¾ cup corn starch
4 eggs separated
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Blend zwieback crumbs, 2 tablespoons sugar and melted margarine until fine, even crumbs form. Press ¾ of the mixture onto bottom and sides of lightly greased 9-inch spring form pan. Bake in 325 degrees F. (slow) oven 5 minutes. Cool. Press cottage cheese through coarse strainer twice. Add corn starch and beat with spoon until fluffy. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat egg yolks slightly; add ½ cup sugar and beat until thick. Mix in lemon juice, rind, vanilla and salt. Fold in cheese mixture, then whipped cream. Fold remaining ½ cup sugar into beaten egg whites. Fold into cheese mixture gently but thoroughly. Pour into spring form pan. Sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in 325 degrees F. (slow) oven 1 hour. Turn off oven; let cheese cake stay in oven until firm, about 45 minutes longer. Cool completely. Remove from pan. Chill in refrigerator until serving time. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

WHAT'S AS good as a cream pie with a fresh peach glaze? A cream pie with a glaze of fresh strawberries, blueberries or apricots! And all varieties may be made from one basic recipe.

Weight Watchers Influence Dessert

WEIGHT-WATCHING is having its influence in the kitchen. Nowadays cooks are sometimes inclined to cut down on sugar when they evolve a new dessert recipe.

That's just what one cook did with this peaches-and-cream pie. Instead of the usual creamy filling that is high in sugar and low in liquid, she used a filling of blanc mange—low in sugar and high in liquid.

One word of caution: if you use a glass double boiler in making the blanc mange filling for this pie, you will have to cook it longer than if you use a utensil made of aluminum, enamelware or stainless steel. This matter of utensil material, we discovered several years ago, really makes a big difference when you cook with cornstarch.

And another tip: a blanc mange pie filling needs ample time for setting although it should be served as soon as possible after it is set.

BLANC MANGE PEACH PIE

⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup corn starch
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
2 eggs, well-beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 baked 9-inch pastry shell
Peach Glaze
Fresh peaches

In the top of an aliuminum, enamelware or stainless steel double boiler, stir together the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over rapidly boiling water until mixture is thick. Cover and continue cooking 10 minutes longer, stirring several times. Do not remove from heat; blend a little of the hot mixture into the well-beaten eggs, then stir back into remaining hot mixture in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water for 2 minutes. Stir in vanilla. Cool to room temperature. Pour into baked pastry shell.

Prepare Peach Glaze. While the glaze cools, peel and slice enough peaches to make 2 cups; arrange over filling. Spread glaze evenly over peaches; chill until filling and glaze are set; serve as soon after that as possible.

Note: Have enough boiling water in the bottom part of the double boiler to leave drops on upper part when it is inserted and raised. If using a glass double boiler, cook 15 instead of 10 minutes before adding eggs; if, after this cooking period, the water in the bottom of the double boiler has evaporated considerably, replenish with boiling water to make up the original amount.

PEACH GLAZE

1 tablespoon corn starch
Dash of salt
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup pureed fresh peaches
⅓ cup light corn syrup

In a small sauce pan stir together the cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in cold water, keeping smooth. stir in peaches and corn syrup. Cook and stir constantly over medium heat until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat. Cool 5 minutes.

Note: To puree the pared fresh peaches, crush or mash and then force through a strainer.

Mardi Gras Salad for Summertime

It may not be Mardi Gras season, but a colorful serving of Mardi Gras Chicken Livers on rice may be appropriate to this pleasant Peninsula summer.

Mardi Gras Supper
Mardi Gras Chicken Livers on Rice
Swiss Chard
Snap Bean Salad
Toasted Crackers
Lime Pie
Coffee Milk

Mardi Gras Chicken Livers

1 package (8 ounces) frozen chicken livers, thawed
½ cup thinly sliced onion
1-3 cup thinly sliced celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
¼ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup water
¾ teaspoon lemon juice
Cooked rice

Cook livers, onion, and celery in butter in covered skillet until tender. Add soup, parsley, water, and lemon juice. Heat; stir now and then. Serve on rice. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Quick Tips

Swiss Chard makes a nice summer green. Chop chard; steam with very little water, then drain. Season with salt, pepper and bacon fat; sprinkle with crumbled bacon and egg yolk before serving.

Snap bean salad—Young, tender beans should be cooked whole, drained, and marinated in French dressing with added lemon slices and a few whole cloves. Serve on chopped lettuce.

Spiced Ham Supper
Spice-Simmered Smoked Shoulder (or use Butt or Ham depending on special for week)
Savory Boiled Potatoes

Ice Cream Roll with Sauce
Sanka Milk

Spicy Beans in a Bowl

1 can (1 pound) beans and ground beef in barbecue sauce
1 teaspoon chili powder

Combine beans and ground beef and chili powder. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Top with Oregano Croutons. Spread one side of bread with butter; sprinkle with leaf oregano. Place on cooky sheet. Bake at 300 degrees about 15 minutes or until crisp. Cut in cubes.

Garlic Croutons — Substitute garlic powder for oregano in above recipe.

Quick Tips

Place smoked shoulder (or other smoked cut) in water to cover; add 2 to 3 tablespoons mixed pickling spice and ½ cup brown sugar. Boil until meat is tender, adding more water as needed.

Boil small or new potatoes in their jackets, then peel and return to saucepan. At once add several tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 minced onion and a generous sprinkle of pepper and salt. Toss over low heat until potatoes are coated with mixture.

Beet salad—Remove and reserve tops from baby beets; boil beets; pare and marinate in tangy dressing. Refrigerate. Quarter beets; add chopped tops and toss with marinade and a sliced red onion.

The accommodating porker has been so restyled that he now contains less calories per portion than beef. According to studies done at the Oklahoma Experiment Station, a 100-gram serving of cooked pork now has just 240 calories, as compared to 266 calories for a like serving of beef.

Buddy Greco Opening Tonight—Safari Room

Singing, swinging Buddy Greco is living proof of the adage, "There's No Business Like Show Business." Buddy, whose rise to fame through the recent years has been sensational, waited for 15 years to be "discovered" by the general public. When they suddenly did sit up and take notice of Buddy's talents, he became an overnight success. Buddy's opening tonight at Paul Catalana's San Jose Safari Room has been well booked. Buddy will appear here through August 8. The Monkey Bar features The Down Beats. If you're planning a dine-out and entertainment program, by all means, include a reservation for the dinner show at the Safari Room. The food served here is superior to the usual fare . . . "Fitz" Fitzgerald, manager of Doug's Fountain in the Hillsdale Farmers Market, prepares a delicious taste treat—two oatmeal cookies with a filling of ice cream, dipped in Old Dutch Chocolate syrup, and frozen. Real great for late night television snacks! . . . Take home Mexican foodems are one of the many "extras" afforded at Pancho's fine Mexican Cafe in Redwood City.

Buddy Greco

"ROYAL COURT OF QUEENS" — Enricketta :'Mama" Romano, a kitchen "queen" in her own right, and "Swede" Hillstead, a bartender at Romano's of Pacifica, royally hosted this bevy of beauties from the various Peninsula cities when they arrived by four-wheel Cable Car for luncheon at Romano's restaurant. The great mystery of the day was the absence of "king" Enrico Romano.

KEITH WILLIAMSON, the busy Keith's Chicken and Steak House operator, has come up with another tasty idea. This time it's a special steak dinner—which includes green salad, baked potato and buttered French bread. The $1.49 steak dinner is featured seven days a week. So make tonight your night to enjoy . . . The Mary Kaye Trio has been booked as the opening attraction at the all-new Royal Room in San Francisco, which opens September 23 . . . Strip star Autumn Lee of the Moulin Rouge, a University of California co-ed, is spending her summer vacation learning how to speak and write Japanese . . . Speaker of the Assembly, Jesse Unruh, was the guest of honor at a luncheon at Oreste's last Tuesday. One hundred prominent Republicans and Democrats representing management, labor and local public officials met with the Speaker . . . The Hawaiian Gardens in San Jose truly resembled "Tokyo By Night," last weekend, when Bill Young's new revue by the same name opened to a packed house. The choreography of the Raoul Appel Dancers is very outstanding. What they bring from Japan is mostly as American as apple pie. Only "parking problem" at the Brentwood Lodge might be for a dining room table—and that would be just a short wait if you arrived at the peak hours. Always plenty of room for the family car in the adjacent parking lot . . . Two dining rooms and a counter expedite service at Bruno Scatena's Joe's of Westlake. For the relaxing cocktail hours, there is piano for bar entertainment in the fireplace cocktail lounge.

Barney O'Malia Says

Living in Nevada for many years, Barney O'Malia, owner of Barney's Casino in Lake Tahoe (South Shore), has seen many women wearing tennis outfits when they can't play tennis, and ski suits when they can't ski.

"But in Nevada," said Barney, "they really mean business when they put on a wedding dress."

So many vocalists are saying "Hello To Dolly" that I hasten to mention: Be sure and hear Mary Ann Hay's rendition at Nick's in Pacifica. This, along with "Bill Baily," makes an ideal "musical double."

Purchased my tickets for the soon-to-open Hyatt House Theater in Burlingame—have you? General Manager Ed Sullivan suggests you do it right now because tickets are selling as fast as the hot cakes in the Hyatt House coffee shop.

Steakery man Phil Lehr became a grandad for the first time when Daughter Linda Mackwood mama'd an eight pound girl, Brenda, last week.

Action galore at the Catch XIII, what with Friday and Saturday night dancing to the Pete Vela Trio and the Monday amateur swim contest. Pizza and beer flows like it should—and a ball is had by all.

In the short time the Charm Garden restaurant has been in business, they have probably made more folks conscious of the fact that Chinese food is not only good for you, but a big item for the calorie count.

Raquel Flores, one of the featured acts at the Sinaloa, has a contract to tour Spain when she finishes her local booking. Mexican folk dancing and Flamenco are her specialties.

My weekly dine out rounds are never complete without at least one evening spent at George Mardikian's Omar Khayyam's restaurant. From salad to dessert, tasty and satisfying.

Finocchio's new star in the group of female impersonators is Comedian Gene Bayes, noted as "The song-slinger with the jitters." Gene keeps 'em roaring with laughter in his manner of singing in a unique two-voice style while acting so jittery he can't be sure where the next vocal note will come from—high, low or somewhere in the middle range.

Gaylord, Holiday, Wakefield Tops At Harrah's Reno

The always-popular team of Gaylord and Holiday, and the unusual talents of western star Jimmy Wakely are currently sharing top billing at Harrah's Reno Show Lounge. Wakely appears through August 24, while Gaylord and Holiday wind up their engagement August 10. Also on the Harrah's Reno Show Lounge program are Bob Braman and George Rock.

Ed Sullivan, one of America's all-time great television personalities, is the present headliner in Harrah's beautiful South Shore Room. Sullivan, making his debut at Harrah's Tahoe, will appear through August 12, and will be followed by comedian Jack Benny.

In his Harrah's show, Sullivan has assembled a group of eight multi-talented acts that have been a big hit during the first week of the engagement. Two shows are scheduled nightly — 8:15 and midnight.

Late Dining At Surf House

With many of the local dining rooms "folding their table cloths" at 10 p.m., it's sometimes difficult to find a "big league" restaurant for late dining. However, for your convenience, Ron Giannotti is serving delightful food at his Surf House until 12 midnight Monday through Sunday; your favorite cocktails until 2 a.m.

Steak specialists Julie and Arnaud of the cozy, air conditioned Skylark restaurant also feature lunches from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., Tuesday through Friday.

Whenever you get the urge for an Italian dinner that's as old country as Naples itself, try Bertolucci's in South San Francisco. 'Nuff said.

Lunches, as well as dinners, are served at Nick Finocchio's New Tivoli restaurant—but never on Tuesdays ('tis the day off).

No Luncheon Problems for George Taylor

George Taylor, San Francisco ad man, is a "smartie," to be sure. Recently purchasing an ocean going "skiff," George has been inviting friends to join him on fishing excursions. The other weekend, Sil Oliva, the Exposition Fish Grotto boss—and one of Taylor's accounts, along with a group of friends, accepted a "to sea" invitation.

When taking off, Sil asked Taylor why he wasn't taking along a lunch—all his guests were. Taylor just smiled and said that he wouldn't go hungry. After about an hour of bouncing on the choppy waves, Taylor was gifted with lunches from four of his passengers, who had lost their appetites for food (also their breakfasts).

Lew Lehr's popular steak house in the Marina has an ever-changing decor, created by the ever-changing display of new paintings.

NOTE—In the above tabulation of the tides the daily tides are given in the order of the occurrence commencing with the early morning tide and the successive tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur the fourth occurring the following morning.

The columns at heights give the elevation at each tide above or below the level of Coast Survey chart surroundings. The numbers are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign or dash (-) when the numbers are subtracted from the depths given by the chart (U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey)
